

TeamTraders.com announces partnership with NASDAQ OMX

30th November 2011 – Mullingar Ireland.

TeamTraders.com a Live Stock Market Game powered by real time data and NASDAQ OMX, operator of some of the world's largest market exchanges, have partnered to provide one lucky student a 1 week Mentorship in New York at NASDAQ headquarters.

The Mentorship includes time with the NASDAQ Global Data products Team, a tour of Wall Street, a day at NASDAQ's Philadelphia exchange including a tour of the floor and an opportunity to learn about the NASDAQ market at first hand. The lucky winner may also get to participate in the opening or closing bell (subject to availability at the time) at NASDAQ's Market Site in Times Square.

This once in a lifetime opportunity will be awarded to the best performing trader on the TeamTraders virtual stock trading platform at the end of December. The competition is for Irish students only and certain conditions apply to entry, see website for more details.

TeamTraders is a fast growing online community of business oriented students that want to practise in the art of real-time online stock trading. TeamTraders provides this experience in a risk free, simple to use web interface with real -time stock data and virtual money driving the trading platform. Although targeted towards business students anybody can join and the website for free and currently over 2000 users have registered to trade.

The site offers many other fantastic prizes on an ongoing bases and has awarded tablets computers MP3 players, tickets and vouchers in a range of competitions to encourage traders to join in the fun and experience trading without risking any capital.

So hurry along register today at www.teamtraders.com, invest a virtual $100,000, monitor your performance in Real Time and compete for the internship or our other prizes for free and who knows you may be heading to New York in January. Current leaders are showing growth of 3-4% so it's still all to play for.

For more information please contact kevin@teamtraders.com

Itinerary for the Mentorship:

- Day 1: Student would arrive at One Liberty Plaza (Financial District – two blocks from Wall Street).
Student would spend half the day with the Global Data Products Team and the other on a tour of Wall Street.
- Day 2: Student would take a train to Philadelphia, PA and go to NASDAQ's Philadelphia Stock Exchange for the day. Take a tour to see the traders on the floor of the PHLX stock exchange and learn about NASDAQ's Options market. At the end of the day, student would take a train back to New York.
- Day 3: Student would spend the day at NASDAQ's MarketSite in Times Square and participate in either the Opening or Closing Bell (depending upon availability). This is NASDAQ's flagship attraction and the student would take a tour and shadow a marketing employee for the day here.

